Brief report of Alumni Talk on Future of Human resource management (in association with Department of commerce)

Alumni refers to former students of a particular school or college. Vanidhani Geeta from the 2017-18 pass out batch was invited to speak with the 40 BBI students and Department of Commerce students. He was asked to motivate and guide them through his past and present experiences as an ex-student of the department. The students also were so enthusiastic to see her as she was a very recent senior to many of the students.

Objective of the program: The objective of the program was to make students understand how they can have a successful HRM career in future.

Outcome of the program: Students will be able to:

- Apply reasoning informed by the contextual knowledge to assess societal, health, safety, legal and cultural issues and the consequent responsibilities relevant to the professional HRM practice.
- Apply ethical principles and commit to professional ethics and responsibilities and norms of the HRM practice.
- Recognize the need for and have the preparation and ability to engage in independent and lifelong learning in the broadest context of technological change.

Details of the program:

- The program started with a welcome speech by Ms. Komal Bodhwani (Co-ordinator), H.O.D, BCOM Department where she introduced Ms. Vanidhani Geeta with BBI and BCom students.
 - She also shared his memory about Ms. Vanidhani Geeta and congratulated her on his successful career in the HRM field.

• Ms. Vanidhani Geeta started his speech with special thanks to all the faculties as well as staff for supporting and guiding him continuously throughout his 3 years of journey at college.

She expressed his special gratitude towards faculties who have been her friend, philosopher as well as his guide and has provided her with the platform to launch herself in today's competitive world.

- She shared her various wonderful experiences of the college with the students and advised them to attend classes regularly. Ms. Vanidhani Geeta in his speech highlighted some of the important criteria which current industry normally seeks from any candidate and motivated the students to understand the fundamentals of every subject so that after completion of their course it becomes easy for them to choose a specific field.

- She also encouraged the students to perform group studies and to do various projects which will increase the weightage of their CVs. While interacting with the students, she urged every student to develop some key skills which will act as their asset at the time of their placements.

Following are some highlighted points of the session about the future of HRM

Employees are the foundation of any business or organization. Nothing can replace the value of a responsible human providing service to a firm.

The business landscape has changed to the point where employees are no longer just laborers looking for a paycheck but are now seen as a resource.

Human resource management is the name given to the management of this resource. It also entails fostering a long-term, healthy, and cooperative working environment for employees.

The HR team builds the foundation of the company where every employee thrives.

Other important parts of an organization's HR department include performance evaluation, health and welfare, workforce rules, incentives, and compensation, and safety evaluation. HR is one of the most promising and well-defined specializations in business administration.

HR professionals are the backbone of every organization, which is why they are in such high demand in both the private and public sectors.

An HR administrator must guarantee that all actions, such as employee recruitment, settlement, benefits, compensation, training, and development, are carried out in accordance with business policy.

Human resource management is all about managing availability and correctly utilizing resources. It entails finding the proper people, educating them to be productive on the job, and devising motivation and inspiration tactics for them.

To work in human resources, you'll need a specific set of talents. These abilities shape not only an HR manager's work life but also their personal interactions with employees.

Effective communication, dispute resolution, change management, negotiating skills, flexibility, planning skills, and supervisory quality are among these qualities.

Job satisfaction is linked to an employee's psychology in the workplace. Employees who are happy strive to perform to the best of their abilities.

- The session continued with students asking questions regarding their future career in industry as well as recent trends in HRM in the industry. She also emphasized on the fact that there is no shortcut in life to achieve success unless you put labour into it as 'the word labour comes first in the dictionary than success'.

Ms. Vanidhani Geeta concluded her speech by urging everyone to close their eyes, realize what they want to do with their life, pull up their socks and dive deep in their mission.

• The program ended with a vote of thanks by Ms. Komal Kamra (Co-ordinator), Faculty , BMS Department who thanked Ms. Vanidhani Geeta for taking out time from his busy schedule and motivating as well as guiding the students of the Department for better career growth.

Guest Lecture on Innovative Financial Services- by Mr.Harshad Dushiya working with Accenture.

Alumni refers to former students of a particular school or college from the 2017-18 pass out batch who were invited to speak with the 25 BMS students He was asked to motivate and guide them through his past and present experiences as being an ex-student of the department. The students also were so enthusiastic to see him as he was a very recent senior to many of the students.

Objective of the program: The objective of the program was to make students understand the impact of innovation on financial services. To enable students to examine various financial services and its mechanisms.

Outcome of the program: Students will be able to:

- Students would acquaint themselves with the financial service market and its constituents. They would assess the growth of financial services and the problems faced by financial services in India. They would also recall and discuss factoring and bill discounting services.
- Students would recall and discuss the meaning, features of Issue management, stock broking and securitization services.
- Students would discuss different types of consumer products, growth of plastic money and the growing popularity of credit rating.

Details of the program:

- The program started with a welcome speech by Ms. Komal Kamra (Co-ordinator), H.O.D, BMS Department where she introduced Mr.Harshad Dushiya with BMS students.

Alumni also interacted with the students and gave motivational talk regarding preparing for higher studies and placements. Alumni answered questions of students regarding sessions.

He emphasized that the basics of subjects shall have its importance and students should be mastering their subjects well. Students participated with enthusiasm, were interactive and answered questions by the speaker as well as got answers for their queries during the session.

Following are some highlighted points of the session about the future of HRM

Technology is transforming the banking industry so rapidly that anything less than around-the-clock electronic access to bank accounts seems unthinkable. While predictions vary widely as to how soon and to what extent online banking will become a routine part of most people's lives, there is no doubt that technology - especially Internet technology - is having a huge impact on the financial services industry.

The transformation ignited by the Internet is creating a new paradigm in the financial services industry, characterized by surprising business structures. Financial innovation improves institutions' ability to sustain themselves and reach out to the underprivileged. As a result, the development of financial markets and the IT sector are closely interconnected. Specifically, they share a positive correlation.

There is a two-way learning curve between the traditional firms and those that are grounded in the Internet. Certainly, the Internet-only operations have proved that online financial services are viable.

As consumers become savvier about what the Web has to offer, they will ask for and expect more. Learning from their own and each other's triumphs and failures, firms will fine-tune their Internet offerings to meet the demands of their customers. In that context, the future of online financial services presents an especially rosy picture.

Thereafter Ms. Komal Kamra (Co-ordinator), H.O.D, BMS Department presented concluding remarks and mentioned the importance of reaching out to alumni and their interaction with current students and advised the students to adhere to the worthy suggestions given by the learned and accomplished speaker.

Program concluded with a vote of thanks by Ms. Karuna Tejwani, Assistant Professor, Department of Management Studies, who thanked the speaker for sparing valuable time to mentor our students.

He also thanked, Faculty of Management Studies for reaching out to the speaker and inviting her, thanked student volunteers who managed the programme and the support staff for actively helping out in the smooth conduct of the same.

Program followed with Presentation of memento to the alumni by Head, Department of Management Studies, a time where speaker became nostalgic and mentioned that he felt honoured to be invited by her alma mater for such a session and being felicitated by her teacher. The program was well attended by students, who participated enthusiastically and interacted with the speaker.

Report on Expertise on Cost Accounting

Department of commerce organized expertise on cost accounting of on 4th JANUARY, 2020

15 Students attended the session. The speaker for the session was Mr.Gopi Shamnani Asst. Prof. of CHM College. Cost accounting is a form of managerial accounting that aims to capture a company's total cost of production by assessing the variable costs of each step of production as well as fixed costs, such as a lease expense.

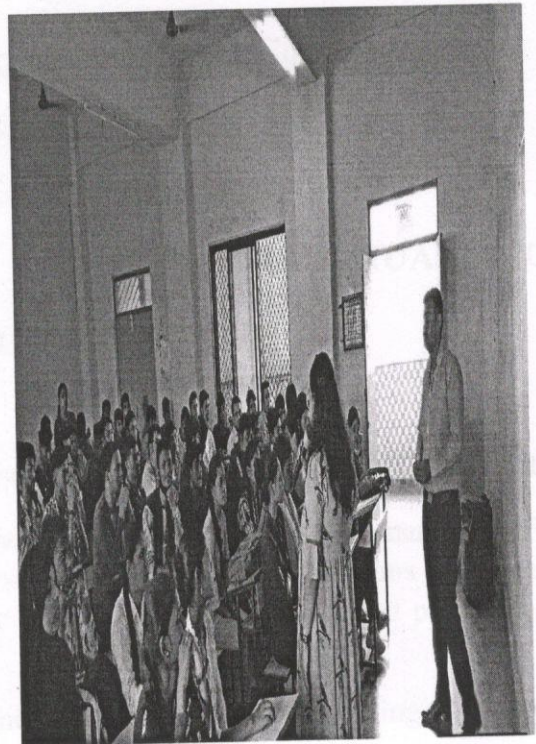

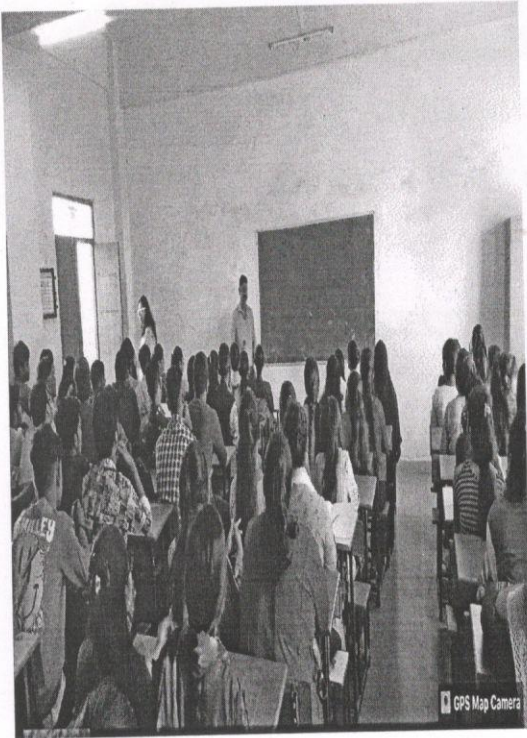

The speaker emphasized some important guidelines regarding Cost Accounting they are as follows:

- Cost accounting is used internally by management in order to make fully informed business decisions.
- Unlike financial accounting, which provides information to external financial statement users, cost accounting is not required to adhere to set standards and can be flexible to meet the particular needs of management.
- As such, cost accounting cannot be used on official financial statements and is not GAAP-compliant.
- Cost accounting considers all input costs associated with production, including both variable and fixed costs.
- Types of cost accounting include standard costing, activity-based costing, lean accounting, and marginal costing.

The speaker was enlightened about cost-accounting methods developed by and tailor. Unlike the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB)-driven financial accounting, cost accounting need only concern itself with insider eyes and internal purposes. Management can analyse information based on criteria that it specifically values, which guides how prices are set, resources are distributed, capital is raised, and risks are assumed.

And later the meeting concluded on asking interactive questions from students.
