Customer Relation Management (CRM)

Relevant in today's scenario:

- Everyone has the experience of day to day life. As ultimately we all are Consumers.

Methods:

- After sales services
- Reminders to customers,

Outcome

- Also examples should be given about how companies try to retain customers through policies.

Information Technology (IT)

- It was also discussed in the meeting that instead of giving question of 15 marks it is advisable to divide the question in two parts for 7 marks and 8 marks so that it should become easy for the student to attempt the question.

Mathematics and statistics for all self finance courses

- It was decided to put fill in the blanks and true or false for objectives for 15 marks.
- One theory question should be asked in a simple manner so that students can attempt and can score the marks in the examination.

Foundation Course

- Students can be taught by giving various activities of relevant topic. Also they can be asked to make case studies of respective topics.

For all Theory subjects:

Handwritten signature

- Faculties discussed that they provide students with model papers for objectives before exams wherein more than 50 fill ups and True/False are given.
- Maximum portion should be targeted i.e. around 40-50% of portion for internals (2 modules) to reduce burden in last.
- There are lots of subjects with same topics having repetitive explanations. All faculties discussed about repetition and solution to it.
- More scoring questions are given in exams, which have diagrams, pointers and are easy to explain.
